

StratEx for a
Distributed Workforce

Feel like there aren't enough hours in the day to take care of what's really important? We can help you find them.

We know what it's like to run a large and complex HR department. It is easy to get so caught up in handling the countless everyday challenges that it's hard to find time to manage the big picture. In fact, that's exactly why StratEx was developed. We deliver fully friction-free applicant tracking, onboarding, benefits administration, time and labor management, performance management and payroll, all through one highly configurable easy-to-use platform.

The software incorporates all the expertise we've developed over ten years of helping HR professionals bring method to the madness. Our highly intuitive software makes it simple to create and manage tools that can handle an endless variety of must-be-done-yesterday tasks quickly, competently and efficiently. Which ones are right for you? That's your call. Our dedicated team will work with you to figure out which tools best suit your needs, as well as your organization's culture and structure, all for a cost that fits your budget.

And if you ever face a difficult employment issue, you're not alone. StratEx has experts in labor law, compliance and risk management in all fifty states, who are available to help whenever you need them.
